

Saving Assignments...

- Since you will not be printing in this class, you may wonder how to save your work when the instructions tell you to print or instructions state to "not save".
- I have a Golden Rule about saving: Save every chance you get. If the instructions tell you to print, save instead. You may add the word "print" or the step or part number in the exercise to differentiate the print step from other saves.
- If the instructions tell you to make changes and then not save before closing, save anyway.
- Bottom line: Use your best judgment when saving. In this class, more is better than less.
