

What should be in the HTML folder...

---

This handout will help you understand what should be saved in your HTML folder when you are finished watching episodes 1 to 6 of the video lessons.

Tubetorial.com is the website that originally posted the HTML video lessons. The videos were later published on YouTube to make it easier for people to watch.

In Episode 1, the video instructor shows you how to create a folder on your desktop and name it 'HTML'. You already have the 'HTML' folder (downloaded from Watson's Website), so do not create a 2nd one (even though Episode 1 tells you to create an HTML folder). The files you create as you follow along with the video lessons will be saved into your HTML folder.

These are the files you should see in your HTML folder when you finish video lessons 1-6:

- ☐ exercise1.html Notepad file
- ☐ template.html Notepad file
- ☐ blocks.html Notepad file
- ☐ inline.html Notepad file
- ☐ links.html Notepad file
- ☐ graphics folder with box.gif (orange square) – Even though the video instructor tells you to download this file from the Tubetorial website, I provided it for you in the HTML folder.
- ☐ tables.html Notepad file
- ☐ box.gif

NOTE: There are 8 video lessons, but we only do 6 for CIS 111.
